Audirvana Plus 3.2.15..Bitcoin's deflation — which has had a powerful negative effect on the price of the cryptocurrency — is considered one of the main risks for investors since the coin was introduced in 2009. "The most important risk is [the possibility of] there being a bubble... It's impossible to estimate," a Citi analyst said, speaking on the condition of anonymity. That's why the bank believes the bitcoin price could drop by about 50 percent in the next six months, according to JP Morgan estimates. JP Morgan's research in late January suggested that a bitcoin bubble could last five years. The bank notes that before the current rally in the cryptocurrency, bitcoin prices have risen by 3,850 percent in the last year, according to data from Bloomberg. Then, just last month, an asset manager said that bitcoin could be next year's riskier asset than Chinese real estate.
