Take advantage of your webcam and see what you can make it do. HandyAvi is a computer app that can be used with the Webcam Toolkit to create a lot of cool things. You can make animations, 3D images, movies and more. The webcam animation and 3D imaging modes let you film a scene and then slow it down a lot. If your webcam is supported by HandyAvi you can remove the noise and see what is going on without the camera making any motion. Some parts of a HandyAvi program (like the Motion or the Timelapse program) can be controlled by a mouse or a keyboard. Turn your webcam into a movie camera.

By Cesar Torres If anyone was going to accomplish the impossible last weekend, it would be last week's Grand Champion, Aaron Simpson. The experience and momentum he built up during the first half of the year convinced him that he could become another Marengo Horse to hold a world record in the rugged mountain range of the southern Sierra Madre. His nerves never failed him. He was composed and relaxed even before his first 800 meters. The conditions did not faze him as he sprinted through the first 200 m in a fast 22.8 seconds, not too far off the fastest of 19.1 seconds to which it is easy to reach a world record. He suffered during the second 200 m when he started slowing down, but before the finish line he started surging once more, and in the final stretch he took over the lead with no difficulty. The organizers of the World Mountain Running Cup announced that the new world record, of 1:49.69, made by Aaron Simpson, surpasses the old mark of 1:49.99, held by the native of Spain, Manuel Nevado, which he achieved at the 2012 edition of the World Cup in Turkey. Before the debut in Mexico, Aaron Simpson traveled to Argentina, and on Thursday August 29 he repeated his performance, sprinting the last 400 m in a final clip of 48
