ID3Sort is a small, easy to use tool designed to scan a directory full of MP3 files, look at the artist and the album and then create directories and move the files to them, thus helping you organize your files.So I'm a Graphic Designer who is both 'old' and 'new'. I love the old stuff like the art deco era of design. Also the new stuff like Illustrator and Photoshop and the endless possibilities it has. So I'm trying to find a balance between the old and the new. I was looking for an awesome vector logo and I stumbled upon this one: Favoritism_1 When I got the idea of making one myself, I was struggling to find a suitable font. As I am not a designer I was at a loss. So I googled it, found this awesome website: Myfonts.com and downloaded the exact font I needed. I used it here: Favoritism_2 So what do you think of it? Does it look like I wanted it to, or was I lucky? I just cant help but feel the designer cheated on me. To me it just looks like the logo was copied right from the font. Now dont get me wrong, I am not saying what they did was wrong, it is their right to make something of their own. I just cant help but feel bad for me. I'd say it's quite similar, though for some reason I can't see how they could do it. I mean, I can see how they could copy the font like you said, but not how they could make the graphic quite the way you did. For example, they had to have gotten the (I guess from the bottom left) cloud-like thing from somewhere, and
