The game is presented in an old world environment (made with the WYSIWYG editor, so that the user can feel that he/she is opening a CD-ROM. On the other hand, the game concept is as modern as they can get, its atmosphere and visual design are reminiscent of the classics but adds its own touch to it.) and includes a full mission editor. Storyline: The protagonist of the game is set in 1944 in Poland, during the time when Germany occupied Poland. After the defeat of Germany in the war, the country is divided between the communist and the fascist nations. The nazi's take over the media and they use the war to set themselves in place and spread their propaganda. Then one day the aliens arrive. A small group of German scientists from the Oppenheimer Institute travel in the pod to a secret place in the desert. There they found the answer to the puzzle of where the aliens came from, that they were the aliens from space. The nazis were willing to open the gate to the other planets to get rid of the problem. But the scientist were against it and didn't allow it. The scientists managed to shut the gate to the next world and were betrayed to the nazis by their colleague. They were then taken to the kremlin where the "great leader" ("Filth Is Lead" parody) had them tortured and offered them to the secret service. They were let go on a condition that they try to shut the gate again. But there was no more media with that technology, so there was no one to release them. During the journey to the gate they found out that the Nazis were ready to cut off the thumb of one of the protagonists. But the scientists were unable to prevent it, so now they are waiting for their fate. Gameplay: It's a spaceship sim with heavy military game elements. The player is one of three main characters. At the beginning, the game is offered for 4 choices: (1) Pilot, (2) Engineer and (3) Weapons operator. The game progresses with the character gaining experience to become more powerful. There are two kinds of damage, normal damage and special damage. Each time the player is hit with a special damage, he/she loses one life. If one of the characters is killed, the game is over. The game presents a mixture of action, shooting, base building and resource management. There are 3 different energy types: (1) Solar energy, (2)

What's new:

Arrives To Support The Junkers Amid the disarray of the Second World War, in the German 7th Army's retreat during the Battle of the Bulge, the makeshift, hastily formed German 92nd Heavy Panzer had a potentially vital role to fulfil during its redeployment to contact the First United States Army in the east. Concealed within a snow cone in American hands to the North-East, the German tankers had little contact with the US 7th. But when the American First Army reached the abandoned Kraut division, logistical support from their German brethren made the difference. Here Lies The Deceit Three courageous 2nd SS Panzer Corps troopers, led by Major Otto Wolf, raced through enemy lines in a cold and blizzard, to reach the VSS Army in the US 1st Corps and beseech them to provide succour in spite of the incessant rain, snow and freezing conditions. Fuel was already scarce in the even-blacked-out, deserted and exposed western German positions, but German need and supply dictated that the journey to the enemy was made. The men were ready, wet, cold and starving, so they stood and waited for a JU88 transport plane to lower the cargo to them. Here lies the problem. The Germans knew, their presence would be identified immediately from the plane's silhouette, even if it was under the Eastern Cross. The plane could be one of the British moving supplies but, too, it could be a Russian one - the height of the wings would have left no doubts. The best answer was to land in the middle of the woods, far enough from the front to allow them to be carried to the US 20th Infantry Corp. Firing their guns at their current state was hardly a sensible move. As the heavy steel canisters fell, it was the first time that the men had seen what they were to receive. Stacks of tins, all neatly stacked and serially stacked, would feed the supplies through the inefficient US 20th Infantry Supply system into the country side; in fact all that the Germans needed to do was rake the tins across the woodland, away from the frontline trenches. The very fact of delivering the supplies, instead of arranging for the already strained American supply system to receive them, is questionable. It is an argument for the presence of Otto, Schumacher and Neumyrer, or the mission not even have been performed. One would surmise that it
