I have no luck with this: SELECT groupid FROM table WHERE Date = '19-04-2013' I am getting the maximum groupid for all the records where date = 19-04-2013. I need groupid which is corresponding to Date = 19-04-2013. A: I think you just need to apply an order clause to your WHERE clause. Something like this should work: SELECT top 1 * FROM table WHERE Date = '19-04-2013' ORDER BY Date DESC I would caution you, however, that if the timestamp isn't guaranteed to be able to be parsed as a DateTime, then you may be better off converting it to DateTime as well and selecting using the Date sub-component. #include "fbcunit.bi" #pragma foo c+ c The include directive above must precede the pragma #include "unrelated_file.bi" #pragma foo d c Function and variable declarations may be continued into the next line #include "unrelated_file.bi" #include "unrelated_file.bi" #include "unrelated_file.bi" #include "unrelated"
