What's new:

The most faithful version is 01 Wow, I'm getting an entire novel for reading 10 pages. That's a great deal. I was hoping the weight of the book would seem...large...but this just makes it seem tangible? How can this be!? My other thought, is that this book feels like the answer to many of the mysteries that have transpired in the show. I'm beginning to think just because it's not being explained, it doesn't mean we have to know the answers straight away. I just have to figure out those annoying whodunits. :P The men seem to be in need of a woman although, they have decided to be fair. They shall have a woman for a short week before they choose one. The jury still out on these men. It seems they are fair but have said people can't feel the other person out for themselves. I don't know that that is completely fair. I have learnt so much more about Sherlock from this book alone. It seems that Holmes and Watson are childhood friends, apparently. In the 10 chapter book, there are thoughts that Holmes is 80 when he is to meet Peter. I thought about this for a few moments. But also there's no reason why he can't grow old if he is living in the past. I was wondering if there is a drama about their friendship. I thought it was in the original novel but I think I overlooked it. That's why I want to go back over and watch that. I feel like I've seen the details from this side before. Maybe it was for the book. I'm curious to learn more about Peter. Everyone he has worked with has said he was very good at his job. Anybody else see a grieving widow? I'm just curious to know if his marital life was joyous. In the novel, it seems like a marriage by accident. I'm curious what it is to be in a marriage that has to be good for two people. Detective Riddles - Sherlock's Heritage 2 The men seek a woman who has to have a job. Sure, we can't take into consideration normal life because we are so involved in Sherlock's. Each of the men have to show interest in a woman every day. If none of them do, then it is considered as rude as you are in this novel. It's so hard to get involved in the book and the novel is going to be long

Parkside Terrace Residents Take Ownership at DNR-Funded Project The Parkside Terrace House in the City of Fairfax is now officially “The Flynn” through a collaboration between the North Precinct Community Development Corporation (DNR), the DNR, the North Precinct Community Development Corporation (NPCDC), and Landless Action. The North Precinct Community Development Corporation (NPCDC) and Landless Action are local governments entities. Construction was completed this fall. The project’s total cost of $534,189.00 was paid through the State of Illinois DNR’s Revolving Loan Program. The project is funded by DNR dollars only and not from HUD, TIF, or any other public or private funds. The project consists of replacement of 30 windows, repairs to the interior, installation of a new roof, exterior paint, new siding and exterior fascia, and landscaping. The Flynn is a registered historic landmark built in 1922. It is the largest house in the City of Fairfax and is currently vacant. The North Precinct Community Development Corporation (NPCDC) provides much needed housing for low income residents of the North Precinct area of Fairfax. In addition to the Flynn, the North Precinct Community Development Corporation (NPCDC) has about 25 units, a historic building, and a newly constructed small town center. The building housing the Flynn will be retrofitted to include units for low income residents. Landless Action has provided low income housing in Fairfax through a sister organization to NPCDC since 1999. Their commitment to the Flynn is based on their belief that affordable housing is a human right. When questioned, they have never sought funding from HUD, City of Fairfax, or
