happen when S3 takes the data from lambda to S3 I am very new to AWS and Lambda and I cannot understand what will happen when S3 takes the data from Lambda to S3. I have a file uploaded into Lambda with both of them in the same region, and I think S3 will take the data from Lambda to S3 when writing the file. However, what will happen when S3 fails to get the data from Lambda because of some situation such as internet down? A: This is not guaranteed. The only thing that is guaranteed is that Amazon will not delete the event (AWS sometimes does this on their own account, but they will delay the event until they have reviewed your code). If the event fails to come through, it will be dropped from the queue and will only get processed when another event comes in. The fact that it was dropped means that it has now become the responsibility of the developer to read the event out of
