Due to the upcoming summer holidays our regular shipments may be delayed. This unfortunately affects all orders scheduled to be delivered between now and the end of June. We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause and thank you for your understanding. Get the hottest stories from ACRONYM delivered straight to your inbox! Collectively, we're a growing group of passionate designers, entrepreneurs, makers, and storytellers whose goal is to create products that humans will truly love. Meet the ACRONYM team The ACRONYM team is hyper-energized and experienced. We've spent almost a decade building and crafting products for hardworking technologists, tech-savvy parents, and everyday moms and dads who are on-the-go. We believe that product design should be accessible to all. We use a simple and light-hearted design language that appeals to kids as well as adults. And we are always thinking about the future, the next generation of innovative brands and products.

Q: How do I make all terminals in a Linux user's profile sort based on the following conditions: Add sort column - I have a test user in my user profile. If it is the first character, then I want it to be the username column. If the first character is not the username, then I want the sorting to be based on the first character. Delete sort column - If my user in user profile has no username, I want the sorting to be based on the first character. If the first character is the username, I want the sorting to be based on the username. I thought I could do this with the sort option, but if I add a sort column, it would apply to all users.

A: Not entirely sure what you are asking for. If you wish to sort by username (or anything else) alphabetically, you just need to append it to the end of the filename you are sorting on. Like this: $ ls -l total 1 -rw-r--r-- 1 root root 25360 Mar 3 19:24 a -rw-r--r-- 1 root root 29317 Nov 14 11:05 ac -rw-r--r-- 1 root root 9568 Nov 14 11:01 ad -rw-r--r-- 1 root root 10605 Nov 14 11:00 ae 6d1f23a050
