After hitching a ride to Earth's nearest celestial neighbor with the Apollo program, we're now in the era of the next great moon program. "NASA's Lunar Surface Access to the Moon with Hopper will provide an invaluable window into the moon's surface," said Colin Dundas, deputy associate administrator for exploration systems at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, in a statement. "This program will cut the time to return samples to Earth, which would be critical to the advancement of human exploration."
